The Coastal Commission’s Central Coast District Office in Santa Cruz is charged with protecting coastal resources, including public access to and along the coast, from the northern Santa Cruz County border to the southern San Luis Obispo County border. Internships typically revolve around a coastal planning project related to coastal permit applications or local coastal program planning documents, and such internship projects are generally tailored to the specific strengths and interests of interns. All internships also require and include some administrative and support work. Internships are limited, and competitive. To be considered, please send in a resume, a short writing sample, and a letter summarizing your background, skills, and interests as they relate to the Coastal Commission’s mission and the internship.
