OCTOBER 2: No seminar

OCTOBER 9: James Barsimantov, Chief Operating Officer at SupplyShift and UCSC ENVS PhD graduate
SupplyShift: A global network for corporate supply chain sustainability information and the startup journey of former ENVS grad students
Host: Greg Gilbert

OCTOBER 16: Robin Lovell, Ph.D. Candidate, Environmental Studies Depart., UCSC
As husband and wife: Modern farms and portable families in the Vietnamese Mekong River Delta
Host: Jeff Bury

OCTOBER 23: Adam Millard-Ball, Assistant Professor, Environmental Studies Dept., UCSC
Urban sprawl: History, geography and climate consequences
Host: Daniel Press

OCTOBER 30: Cong Wang, Postdoctoral Research Fellow, Environmental Studies Dept., UCSC
Vegetation phenology and remote sensing
Host: Kai Zhu

NOVEMBER 6: Loka Ashwood, Assistant Professor, Department of Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology, Auburn University
For-profit democracy: The rise of environmental injustices, and the decline of governmental authority
Host: Madeleine Fairbairn

NOVEMBER 13: Eric Stephen Post, Professor of Climate Change Ecology, Department of Wildlife, Fish, and Conservation Biology, UC Davis
From Minkowski to muskoxen: An ecological theory of time
Host: Chris Wilmers

NOVEMBER 20: Marcela Cely Santos, Ph.D. Candidate, Environmental Studies Dept., UCSC
Cross-pollinating agriculture, ecosystems and food: Human/bee relationships in Anolaima, Colombia
Host: Stacy Philpott

NOVEMBER 27: Seth Holmes and indigenous farmworker research collaborators, Associate Professor of Medical Anthropology and Public Health; Co-Chair, Berkeley Center for Social Medicine, UC, Berkeley
Immigrant farmworker health, inequalities, and what can be done
Hosts: Esteli Jimenez Soto

DECEMBER 4: David Gordon, Assistant Professor, Politics Department, UCSC
“You can count on us”: Assessing the politics, promise, and perils of global urban climate governance
Host: Madeleine Fairbairn